

Dear Editors of the Health Sciences Journal (HSJ),

We, the authors of the manuscript entitled:

Submitted for publication in the HSJ, in compliance with the Editorial Policy and Instructions to Authors, declare that:

1. We are aware that HSJ is an open-access journal with no publication fee and is maintained by a non-profit philanthropic entity;
2. We are aware that, from 2024, HSJ will publish only articles in English, but manuscripts in Portuguese can be submitted for review;
3. We agree that the translation of the manuscript into its final version is the sole responsibility of the authors, and they should preferably forward it to professional translators or specialized companies; the English style is American;
4. All manuscripts must strictly follow the rules of scientific writing;
5. We agree that if the manuscript submitted for publication originally in English is poorly written, the Editorial Board may reject it without considering it for peer review;
6. We agree that if HSJ considers the Portuguese-to-English translation to be of poor quality, the manuscript will be returned to the authors for a new translation;
7. The translation should include the main text, figures, tables, and supplementary files;
8. We agree that the deadline for returning the translated manuscript is 15 (fifteen) running days;
9. We are responsible for providing the Portuguese-to-English translation as soon as requested, after the manuscript is accepted and in the copyediting stage.
10. We are aware that particular cases, such as translating and validating questionnaires into Portuguese, may not apply to this Policy.

Yours sincerely,
